

FIRST QUARTER PREDICTIONS 2011

Channeled on January 9, 2011

Sue's Notes: This is the first time I can remember The Many saying words like "must" and using the pronoun, "I". This is a new energy to me and if you are used to reading these, you will also see the change in style and rhythm. These predictions are not at all what I have channeled in the past. Be aware that they are talking to each person individually and asking (or it seems more likely telling) that each person now take back their power. Let me know what you think.

We are here – Altered and yet the same. We do not wish to speak of predictions as such, but rather to get you all to recognize how there will be level upon level of happenstance and circumstance and predictive behavior.

You are creating the reality you are choosing to create. You all must be taking responsibility for actions in your first quarter of your new year. You all must become more conscious of the things you have set into motion. Choose to allow them to continue in their motion or choose to stop them before they truly manifest. You have those choices still.

Recognize that we as an energy will be interrupting your days in different ways. It will not be in little ways, but in bigger energetic ways. You will have more ringing of the ears. You will have more sensory vibrations of hot and cold. You will become more sensitized to the energy for the energy is no longer in a pattern that is compatible with the third dimensional body with two strand DNA. Compare yourselves to an electrical current, the AC-DC. If you were in this country, you are now running European style, and if you were in Europe, you are now running American style. The energy is not compatible still, and yet, at the same time, working towards compatibility.

Keep in mind, please, that the predictions we are about to discuss with you are not a one-size-fits-all sense. This is information to help you determine for self which you would, we will say vote for. We will make this a reality program. You get to vote for your outcome. You must be doing it in conscious ways as well as unconscious ways. If you do not do it in conscious ways, whatever has been in your unconscious will be creating. Trust us, we do not want many people to be using only their unconscious for that would not be good for anyone. Yet, at the same time, it would be their world, and not a big deal to those who choose not to join in.

Your biggest information for your first quarter is learning how to be self contained. . . . how to work within your self to create outside of self. . . how to find the energetic strings that are more compatible with you and to weave those strings into the rest of the pattern that you are seeking and searching for. We will approach this in that way. We will be throwing out threads, so to speak, and you can choose to have them or not.

Think on this as things change in your environment. Think what is happening in your weather patterns. Think what is happening in the pattern of the planet. Look upon the news that you receive, and please do not accept the words alone or the actions alone. Rather, go into your core self into your heart center, into some of the places where these strings can be found, and see if they resonate with what is within you already. You chose paths long ago. It does not mean you are stuck with them. It does mean that some will resonate better with some than others.

We will start by saying, on a planetary basis, that the changes that are happening will continue to escalate. We told you in the last quarter that some places would have snow and some would have none, and it could be in the same general state, as in your state of Maine. This is indeed happening and will continue to happen.

You must become aware that fear will be an operative factor for your first quarter of your new year.

The greater the fear, the more the creation of that fear. As an example, those people in the South who are afraid of ice and snow, look what they are creating for themselves. The people in the Midwest who have been talking about how mild their winters have been -- surprise! Their fear has been to have bad winters because they have had bad crop issues. Again, when you look at what is going on in a place around you, you will discover that it is energetically being created by the fear factor.(we do believe that was also a reality TV for you.)

So take a moment and think about what is happening in places, and you will be able to assign the fear that is creating that thing in that moment. With that knowledge, we will say to you that your weather patterns will continue to shift and change depending upon the majority of the people, and where their energetic signature is coming from. This will give you an opportunity to become more aware of your individual power. Even if you have chosen to be in an area where the majority have claimed a particular outcome, if the strings that are within you are being woven differently, it will not affect you in the same way.

There will be people about you saying how difficult things are. Yet, you will be thinking, 'hm, this does not seem to bother me. I wonder why that is.'" It will be because the creation that you are doing fits in a different place.

Now we can talk to you about dimensionality. When Sue goes onto her computer programs to do meditations, she has different lines. Each line has a significance. They blend with one another so she can put the voice in one place, and the music some place else and even more sounds below that depending upon what she is putting together. (TM is referring to the sound tracks that I use when I create meditations through the Audacity Program).

The dimensions work in the same way. Something happening in one dimension that can have an effect in the other dimension unless the mute button is on. (I can listen to one sound track at a time, or in any combination simply by using the mute button for that track.) So when we talk to you of predictions of weather, there will be layers to be checking. There will be many layers depending upon the attitude and the signature of the people in any given area. So see it in that way – a layer upon a layer, like lasagna, like your baklava. Each of these layers has a different significance to the individual. We will say, as much as in your society it sounds trite, we will say whatever you are believing you are creating. So, if you believe in difficult winters, then you will create such. If you believe in flood, you will create such. If you believe in drought, you will create such. You must recognize how quickly the Earth is responding to the general information that is being sent out. She is no longer filtering as she has in the past.

It is time to be taking responsibility for what is happening and no longer claiming it as an 'Act of God', act of planet, act of government, act of science, for that is simply what you call passing the buck. It must be act of self. That is all you must be considering in your first quarter of your new year – self. What about self? What do you not know about self? What have you not nourished about self? What have you not seen about self?

We can take your predictions and say when we look at self, the predictions will be changing because they will be determined upon self. So as your weather conditions change, know that you do not have to agree. Know that as we have told you in the past, if you are paying attention when you are outside, when Earth is speaking to you, you have no need to fear. Fear will only attract what the others are choosing to attract. You need not join them. You are not sheep. Unless you choose to be. So we will say again. it will be the self.

We have spoken in the past about your science. We will say there can be more breakthroughs in science in this quarter than you have seen in many, many years. The difficulty is who will believe? Who will accept? Who will embrace? There will be much done in secret. There will be much done over your Internet before it can be censored. There will be much taken care of in a more underground sort of way.

You can find the tugs the pressure that comes to your strings and find your compatibilities with what is being done in your scientific community. No longer is science as concrete bound as they have been in the past. They are recognizing that some things do not live up to the rules any longer. When they start seeing more coming from what you consider outer space, even more so will they be looking upon things. You will see more anti-aliens, and we do not mean from Mexico. You will see more programming on your television to incite fear because fear is a way to control.

Where the ET's are concerned, expect to see us. Welcome us. Recognize who we are and what we bring. There is not one of us any more than there is one of you (referring to nationality/race, etc.). Again, we will say it is your internal vibrational strings that will help you find your compatibilities. So ET's will be in the news a great deal. There will be evidence in ways that is not explainable and is now happening.

The birds that are falling from your sky, it is not some dark purpose, although there is some dark around it. The general understanding is that these birds have also found, as have the fish, the string in which they wish to vibrate. They are choosing to leave the planet for reasons that you will not know for about six months. In their leaving of the planet, they are making more people aware than have been aware before of certain things that are going on. As we have said before, things cannot stay hidden. More will be coming to the light of day, as you say, in your first quarter in regard to experimentation with certain ... we will call it electronic devices. Do not be surprised if you are questioned by people who do not think as you think. There is much that will be shifting.

We will also say to you that there is medical changes that will be happening because the body is shifting at such phenomenal rates as you move from your two strand to your twelve strand DNA. As these things are activated, there will be a split in your medical community --- those who are insisting things must stay by rules and regulations in a type of dogma and those who are insisting that it is time to be integrating other options. Again, the self will prevail. That is all you need accept for your predictions is that it is about the self. It is about what it is you are striving to accomplish. It is not about what others are striving to accomplish. We cannot in good conscience, give you actual predictions since they will be different depending upon what choices the individual makes. We can see that many will be frightening for some and comforting for others.

You see the extremes happening, and you will see some extreme thinking in regard to your religions.

You will see some extreme thinking in regard to acceptance of those who are different. You will see some extreme thinking in ways to best repair, replace, fix, things that have been broken. When you see this extreme thinking, it will be most important for you to simply walk your talk.

You need not be what others expect you to be. You need not approach things as others have told you they should approach in this way. Rather, we will say to all to ask yourself with your reflection, looking at yourself, to ask yourself what you truly believe and desire. Make a commitment to that belief and desire on a regular basis for you must plant this every day in order for it to grow. Every day the soil is changing. Every day the energy is shifting. Every day is a start anew, which has always been true, but never more so than with this new energy.

What we want to suggest is that all of you, regardless of the topic you are asking for, choose now at the beginning of your year to determine what you wish to see for those categories. If you wish to see an earth that is going to what you call green, then by all means, that is what you commit your energy to. You do not do it by yelling, not by writing letters, not by insisting your way is the right way. You do it simply by going within yourself and finding those strings that will weave into the strings of others like you. As an individual, you are magnetized in your energy when you join the group.

EARTH CHANGES

When we look at the categories we have worked on, where Earth is concerned, we will say to make yourself aware for the areas that predictively do one thing will be doing another. For some particular reason, tsunamis will be happening without apparent earthquakes. Is that not interesting? You will see that happening. In other instances, when you have volcanoes appearing to erupt, they, at the final hour, will not. Much of this will be because of what we are speaking of – the individual energy changing the collective outcome. That is what we will say about your Earth weather conditions.

SCIENCE

Where science is concerned, we will say to look toward those who have the same philosophy that you have. continue, if you would, to recognize the people who work with the Tesla information for more of that will be coming to the light. Recognize those that are talking cold fusions but now in a way that is different from the way they were doing it before. Look at those who suddenly have solutions to problems that seemed at some point insurmountable – such as what do you do with your nuclear waste. Know that there are now solutions that will be coming to you in this quarter, so you can conceivably see great advancements in science. The question will be whether the scientists will have the courage to share their information. Many have been ridiculed in the past for breaking rules in order to create new rules!

MEDICINE

Where your medicine is concerned, we will say gain that the concept of vibration will become more and more important. Doctors will see more and more patients that they cannot diagnose. This is because of the shifting of the DNA from two to twelve. You are not yet equipped to see these changes that are happening within the human physical body. There will be, toward the end of this quarter, the ability to notice things differently for it will be measured in a new and different way. However since your science is what your science is, without provability, it will not be heard about for quite some time, Yet, it will be circulated in an underground type of way to those who need the information. As the shift happens from one to another, you will find that your field of medicine will also be changing. The concept of putting your medical professionals on pedestals will be much more taken away than has ever been before. There will be a looking into of why so much medication is being dispersed to people without understanding what you call the inner reactions. Much of this will be happening in your medicine in your first quarter. It is launching, it is not yet gone.

FINANCE AND GOVERNMENT

What we will say is that from a financial position, it will be a zigzag. It will be highs and lows, and yet, the bottom line will be that the energy for many will be on the low. If you can keep yourself, when we speak of self on the highs, you will be fine. The old rules do not apply. We will say it again: the old rules do not apply. Because they do not apply, certain things will not be developing. Because they are not developing, people who have made money in the past will be feeling like they cannot now. People who were unable to make money in the past will be encouraged now to do so. So you will see a shifting of power where the finances are concerned, except for the fact that those who will be gaining the income do not need the power that accompanies it. It will be a nice, refreshing look at the financial picture without the greed.

Where the government is concerned, we are sorry to report that your government is still a bit deaf, dumb, and blind, with the emphasis on dumb. We will say to you that your government, both in the country of the United States as well as governments across your world, have the tendency to want to be in control of the people. The way they have done this, as we have spoken in the past, has been through the concept of fear and greed. As you work on the individual, there will still be people who will support that structure, but there will be more and more who will not. You need to decide on what team, we will say, you wish to play. As more and more people join the team that says 'we will not be led in a fearful way, we will not be pushed around from the place of fear, then many things will be shifting, but not in all places.

Again, we caution you to look at things layer upon layer upon layer, and know that these things can exist at the same time in the same place, because they are following different vibratory levels. It is why for some people it will be wonderful, and for some people it will not. The new way of existing will be difficult because it will create through its transition much confusion. It will make people say 'but what about', 'how should I handle', 'what can I now do.' To stay out of that way of thinking, to be in the individual self, to weave threads that only feel compatible and comfortable, that is the way you handle your finances and your government.

There will be many big events. We will not give you time and place. There is much that can alter these things. Some of the revolutionary information will not be starting yet in the big bully countries, such as the United States or England. Some of the big concepts will be coming from your smaller Third World countries where their closeness to the spiritual is better developed than in the bigger greedy type countries. It will be interesting for a child will lead them all, as the expression is, and through the children who are coming in, we will be learning new information.

RELIGION AND SPIRITUALITY

We have briefly touched upon these topics. We will say to you that where religion is concerned, there will be conflicts. You have your larger religions trying to integrate things that seem opposite in order to keep themselves alive. With one hand they are giving, and with the other hand, they are taking away.

We will say there will be some who will be comfortable with these changes, and others who will not. Again, we speak of self. Some of the religions will find they will gain with their new way of thinking but they will also lose. So it is not a way to change at this point in time. It is about the individual and not about the Church. It is about the spirituality which has to do with your connection to self and the Divine and does not have to need a middle person to say whether you are divine. You are inherently divine to begin with, and too many religions insist that you cannot be until they approve. So that extreme between belief systems will be happening, but we again caution you to the layers involved here. As one thing is happening, as long as you stay true to your understanding you will be fine. It does not mean not to listen, but it also does not mean to condemn. It means to recognize what vibrates to your inner threads, and work accordingly and to simply not bother with those that will knot up your thread and not work well for you.

And then as far as these changes are concerned we will say there will be as many changes as there are people upon your planet. Now there will be a greater influence of all living things upon your planet than you have seen before. You will be seeing more and more interaction between two-leggeds and four-leggeds. You will see much more interaction between those who walk on the planet and those who fly about it. You will see more interaction from Earth and sea than you have seen before and recognize in every case, much has to do with the change of the vibrational frequencies that once circled your planet. They are now shifting and changing. In their shifts and changes, what they are doing is setting up new pathways. As you set up different neural pathways within your brain, the planet sets up different neural pathways around the planet through various mechanisms. As these things are set up, if there is resistance to them, as what happens in your own physicalities, once something is set up, if there is resistance, there is disease. If there is resistance, there can be death. So you will see the losing of some species and the gaining of others. You will see within your own physicality, the losing of some abilities and the gaining of others. All of this is being put back together like your Rubik's cube. There is no one solution, but rather many solutions. Yet, the end result is what everyone is seeking, which is to be one with The One.

RECAP

Then we wish to say to you there are messages that are coming to you individually and you all must become more aware of them. There is still fear in each of you. There is still a sense of wrongness versus the rightness. You still all struggle with the concept of being complete and total in WHO you are. So we are going to ask you to find your visual representation of your perfectionism. We are going to ask you to become more aware of how things are woven, so that you can see your place in this. This is so you recognize that you are meant to be in the place you are in at the time you are now in this moment. In the layers you have chosen to live, there will be a connecting piece with each of you that will be different, and yet, still compatible with others. With this information, you need necessarily become aware of yourselves and those deep seated fears that you all still avoid. We know that you always are complaining that you have done the work, even when we tell you there is more work to be done. We are saying that now that you have done the things you have done, it is time to go even deeper than you have been before. In that digging to those deeper levels, recognize how you have each been manipulated in the past. Look at those things that have manipulated you, and find a way to project your own honesty without guilt. Project and say those things you wish to say without worrying that you are offending. Recognize that the energy to which you vibrate is correct for you in this moment. If you are responsive to that energy and that energy alone, without bringing in the influence of the old dictatorial fears, you will find that the direction you take will be swift and easy. It is when you slip into the 'but how will I' or 'where will it come from' or 'who will assist me', that you get into your difficulties and your old fears.

It is now keeping your eye on the light, and following that light without wondering where you are placing your feet. Your feet will be led exactly where they need to go in any given time period, but you must be looking at your fears, We know that you believe you have. We know that you all believe you are done, but as is evidenced by what is happening in your lives, we say that you already have your answer. There is more yet to be done.

We will of course be around to be assisting, for, yes, we wish to continue to be communicating. It is always up to all of you whether you are going to listen or not, but we will say we will be available for information whenever you choose to ask us. There will be other energies with us now for we have incorporated into our energies even more than we had before. It will be like going to a single source for multiple information. Your Wikipedia of the channels. In order to do this, you must be more focused in your energy. We will say to you, above and beyond the messages we will have for you at any given time, it would be good if you were focused on what you are hoping to gain by working in this way. That is part of being the individual and working from the self that we were speaking of before.

Even if we speak on one topic, if you are working energetically for self, you will interpret and hear those things you must hear and interpret correctly for your vibrational self. We also speak on multiple layers, you just do not always hear us there.
